

I am opposed to any changes that would weaken Wisconsin's current no-call law. People have had to take action to have their name placed on the no-call list. Additionally, we must renew our listing every 3 years. Those people who don't care or wish to continue to get telemarketing calls have to do nothing. Weakening our no-call law because of the concerns and interests of businesses and corporations ignores the stated intentions and clear actions of the people who have taken the effort to sign up.
